K9.5-3-WebTunes

K9.5 has just completed its stylish, new Web site! Riff, Theo, and Maxine have each designed an exciting game and a personalized reward page. By playing along, your child can help them make sure all the games work. After completing all three levels of the game, he or she can check out the cool Web page that goes with that game. To begin a game, have your child click level 1, 2, or 3 on either “Riff’s Game,” “Theo’s Game,” or “Maxine’s Game.”

“Riff’s Game”

In this game your child will identify base words, prefixes, and suffixes to help Riff check his game. After successfully completing all three levels, your child will be rewarded by a visit to Riff’s “sports activity” Web page. Have your child:

- read the definition
- click the speaker next to the definition to hear the definition read aloud
- click Next to see the next clue word
- click Select to choose the correct word

To exit the game and begin a new one, click the arrow in the upper-left corner of the screen.

Challenge your child to quickly name as many words as possible that begin with the prefix “sub.” For example, submarine, substitute, and so on.

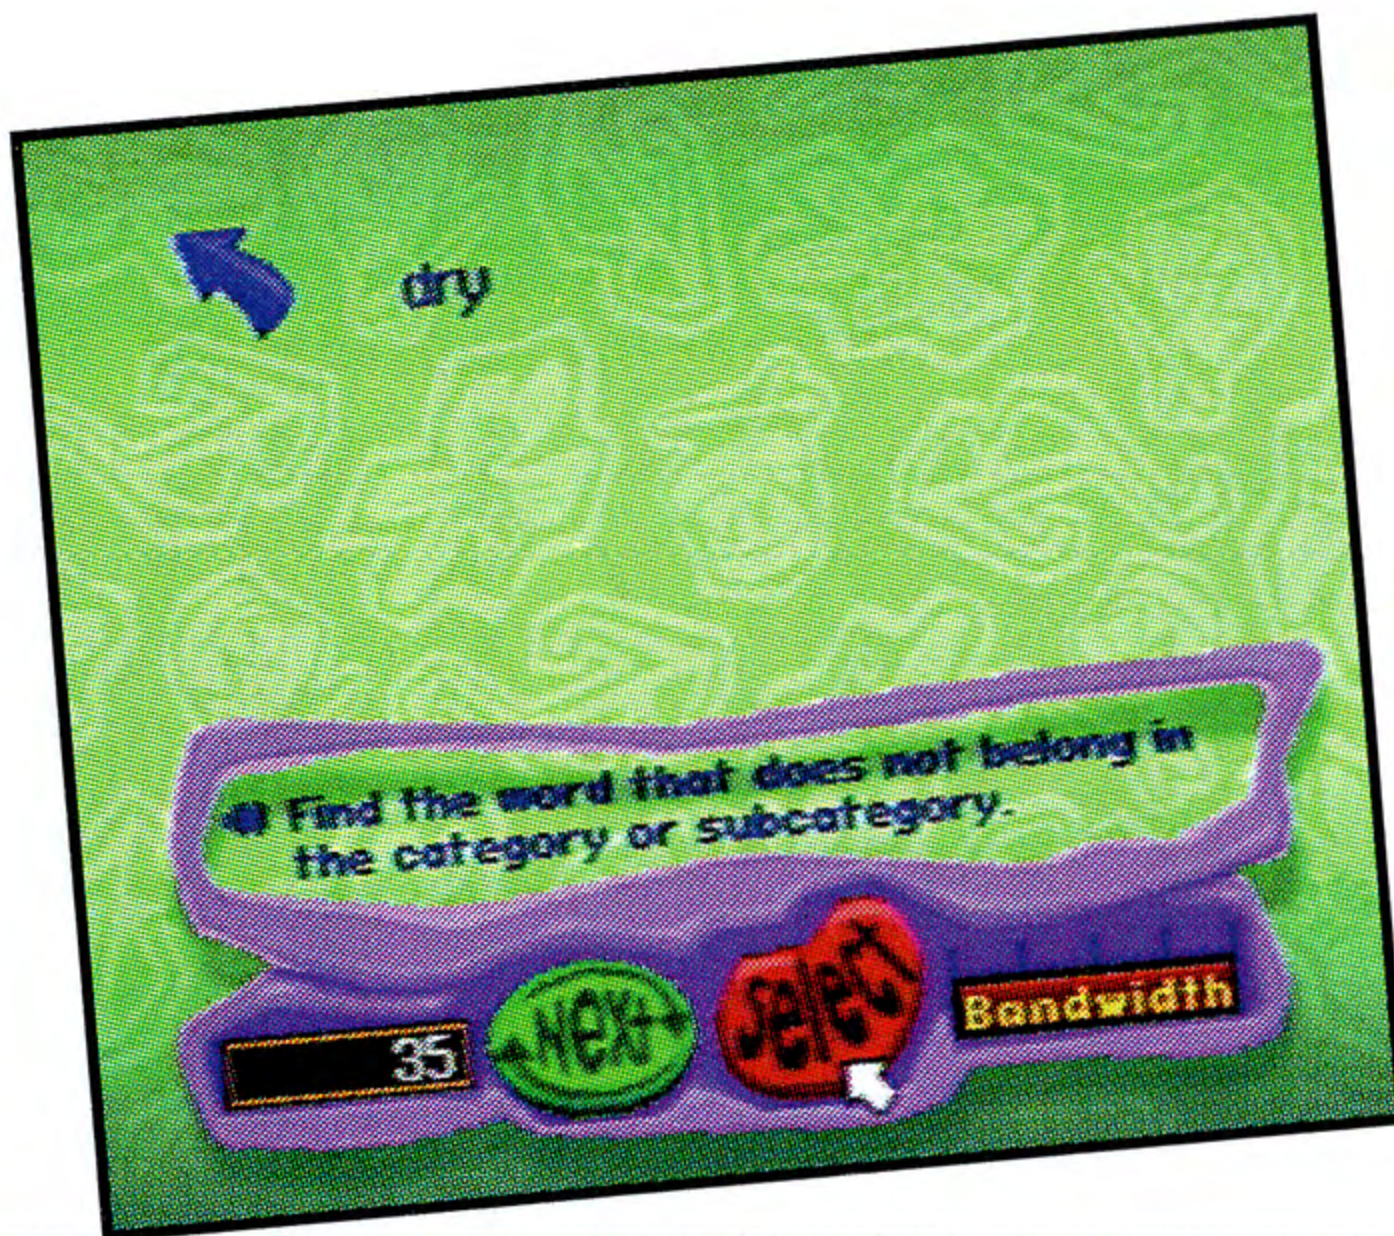

“Theo’s Game”

In this game your child will learn about contractions, possessives, and prefixes by matching words together on two sets of spinning wheels in proper combinations. After successfully completing all three levels, your child will be rewarded with a visit to Theo’s “base guitar case” Web page. Have your child:

- read the definition at the top of the screen
- click the speaker next to the definition to hear the definition read aloud
- click Spin/Stop to see and choose the word combinations
- click OK at the bottom of the screen to select a word combination

To exit the game and begin a new one, click the arrow in the upper-left corner of the screen.

“Maxine’s Game”

In this game your child will use his or her critical-thinking skills as he or she determines the category for a group of words and eliminates the word that doesn't belong. After successfully completing all three levels, your child will be rewarded by a visit to Maxine’s “scrapbook” Web page. Have your child:

- read the instruction
- click the speaker next to the instruction to hear the instruction read aloud
- click Next to see the next word
- click Select to choose the correct word

To exit the game and begin a new one, click the arrow in the upper-left corner of the screen.

Extending the Learning Experience

Family Activities

Play Catch with Contractions

Play a game of “Contraction Catch” with your child. First, you say two full words; then, ask your child to say the contraction. An example would be “I will” and “I’ll.” Next, have your child say the words; then, you name the contraction. Finally, try to talk without using contractions. You will sound very formal.

Words of a Feather Stick Together

One of the K9-3—WebTunes games requires that children think of words in groups or categories. With your child, make word lists for objects that are in the room. For example, start a list of furniture words, color words, and temperature words. Go back and forth saying three words in each category until you can think of no more to say.

Word Puzzles

With your child, make a list of words that begin with a particular prefix, such as “pre,” and then make a separate list of words that end in a particular suffix, such as “ful.” Help your child cut out the words and then cut them into syllables. An example would be “pre-vi-ous” and “for-get-ful.” Have your child put the words back together as a puzzle. Then see if there are any other ways you could put together the word parts to make different words.
